Foreword

Malaysia, an attractive regional hub for services

Malaysia has over the last 60 years developed from a primary commodities exporter (e.g. oil and gas and palm oil) to a strong industrial base for multinational corporations in electrical and electronics, and petroleum and chemical products.

In the last decade, as it moved up the industry value chain, Malaysia has emerged as an attractive regional hub for services, including financial services, information and communications technology (ICT) and logistics sectors.

Malaysia is increasingly being recognised as an innovative international Islamic financial centre. It is also emerging as a springboard for regional expansion into Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) in view of its strategic, central location and multilingual “Truly Asia” mix of Malay, Chinese and Indian populace.

Since its change of government in May 2018, the new government has spearheaded multiple initiatives to improve governance of public institutions. With these reforms, the government is focused on instilling confidence among foreign investors with greater transparency and accountability.

This Guide has been prepared to assist those interested in doing business in Malaysia. The coverage of the subjects is not exhaustive but is intended to deal with some of the more important and/or broad questions that may arise.

The material contained in this Guide is based on legislation as at 31 March 2019, unless otherwise indicated.

Business formation: types of business entities

Types of entity

The following are the forms of business organizations available in Malaysia.

Company

Effective 31 January 2017, companies are governed by the new Companies Act 2016, which provides for three types of companies:

1. Company limited by shares;
2. Company limited by guarantee; or
3. Unlimited company.

In practical terms, almost all companies will be companies limited by shares, i.e., companies with limited liability, the maximum liability of a member being limited to the value of share capital. Companies may be formed as either private companies or public companies.

A private company is one which is prohibited by its articles of association to issue any invitation to the public to subscribe for shares or debentures of the company or to deposit money with the company. Shareholders / members of a private company shall not be more than fifty and are also restricted in their right to transfer their shares in the company. A public company is employed where it is intended to invite the public to subscribe for shares or debentures in the company or to deposit money with the company.

Limited Liability Partnership (LLP)

LLP is an alternative business vehicle regulated under the Limited Liability Partnerships Act 2012, which combines the characteristics of a company and a conventional partnership.

An LLP is a separate legal entity from its partners. The liabilities of the partners of an LLP are limited while the LLP has unlimited capability in conducting business and holding property.

Two or more individuals or bodies corporate may form an LLP for any lawful business in accordance with the terms of the LLP Agreement. An LLP may also be formed for the purposes of carrying on professional services of which the partners must be natural persons of same professional practice and have in force, professional indemnity insurance approved by the Registrar.

An LLP has perpetual succession and any change in the partners will not affect the existence, rights or liabilities of a LLP.

Partnership or sole proprietorship

All sole proprietorships and partnerships (excluding LLPs) are unincorporated and must be registered with the Registrar of Businesses also under the auspices of the Companies Commission Malaysia (CCM). As unincorporated entities, sole proprietorships and partnerships have unlimited liability. In the case of partnerships, partners are both jointly and severally liable for the debts and obligations of the partnerships.

Business formation and the regulatory environment

The Federal Government of Malaysia

Malaysia adopts the constitutional monarchy form of government based on the Westminster system, which consists of three branches.

Legislative

- Creates laws by passing bills through the Parliament
- The parliament consists of two houses, the House of Representatives (Dewan Rakyat) and the Senate (Dewan Negara)
- In most cases, bills are passed by both houses and assented by the Yang di-Pertuan Agong to become law.

Executive

- Although the Monarch is the Head of State, the executive power is vested in the cabinet of ministers and is led by the Prime Minister
- The cabinet formulates economic policies, sets the national budget, and proposes and amends laws
- There are 25 ministries in total. Among the key ministries that are relevant to foreign investors are the Ministry of Finance, Ministry of International Trade and Industry, and Ministry of Economic Affairs

Judiciary

- The Judiciary is empowered to interpret laws that are created by the Parliament by hearing criminal and civil cases in court
- Headed by the Chief Justice of Malaysia
- Court system is based on British common law principles
- More information on the court system is on the next page

The state governments

Malaysia is a federation made up of 13 states and the federal territories of Kuala Lumpur, Putrajaya and Labuan. 9 of these states are headed by hereditary rulers, the Sultans, who serve as constitutional heads of state. The remaining 4 states are headed by the Yang Di-Pertua Negeri (governors) who are appointed for fixed terms of office to serve as constitutional heads of state.

Each state has its own written constitution and an elected legislative assembly. Each state government is led by a Menteri Besar (Chief Minister), who is appointed from among the members of the legislative assembly.

The division of powers between the various state governments and the federal government is defined by the Federal Constitution, which provides for a measure of autonomy for the 13 constituent states.

Business formation and the regulatory environment

Court system

Substantially based on the British legal system and principles of common law.

Specialised statutory tribunals

Besides the ordinary courts of law, there are also specialised statutory tribunals - e.g. Industrial Court, Labour Court, Tribunal for Consumer Claims. These quasi-judicial bodies serve to provide an alternative, inexpensive and expedited means to settle disputes between parties within their specialised jurisdictions.

Syariah Courts

There is a parallel system of state Syariah Courts which has limited jurisdiction over matters of state Islamic law. The Syariah Courts have jurisdiction only over matters involving Muslims.

Regulatory environment for companies

Malaysia's doing business environment is governed by a number of regulations to maintain an efficient and competitive private sector as well as to protect the interest of the public and various stakeholders. Here are among the notable doing business regulatory frameworks:

Free and fair competition: the Malaysian Competition Commission investigates complaints on anti-competition behaviours, carries out market reviews and imposes penalties on offenders.

Price control and anti-profiteering: government can penalise businesses that make "unreasonably high profits" on any goods sold or services supplied.

Conduct in take-overs and mergers: the Malaysian Code on Take-Overs and Mergers 2016¹ (issued by the Securities Commission of Malaysia) aims to ensure that all shareholders are treated equally in a take-over and the acquisition of voting shares (or control of companies) takes place in an efficient, competitive and informed market.

Limits on foreign equity ownership: regulations on specific ownership requirements apply depending on sector. While generally, the government has been relaxing these requirements, there are a number of key areas where foreign ownership limits remain, such as in telecommunications, oil and gas and financial services.

Employment Act 1955

The provisions of the Employment Act 1955 (“Employment Act”) cover any person who works under a contract of service with an employer and who does not earn more than RM2,000 a month on wages, or specific categories of employees. Employees earning more than RM2,000 but not exceeding RM5,000 may use the enforcement provisions of the Employment Act to enforce monetary claims under their contracts. This is applicable to West Malaysia only. The Sabah and Sarawak Labour Ordinances (“the ordinances”) cover certain types of employees who have entered into or work under a contract of service with their employers. In the event of a dispute, the Act provides for free negotiation between trade unions and employers on a voluntary basis. Disputes may be reported to the Ministry of Human Resources for conciliation and referred to the Industrial Court for settlement. Awards made by the Industrial Court are final and legally binding. The Act prohibits strikes or lockouts after a dispute has been referred to the Industrial Court.

The Employment (Part-Time Employees) Regulations 2010 (EPTER)

The EPTER provides protection for part-time employees (PTE) who are hitherto, not protected under any labour law. Some of the protection and benefits provided under the EPTER include payments for hours worked beyond normal hours, paid holidays, paid annual leave, sick leave and weekly rest days for PTE who fall within the regulations. This regulation will require employers to make contributions to the national Employees Provident Fund (EPF) and Social Security Organization (SOCSO) for most part-time workers who are eligible for such contributions.

Business Taxation

Principal taxes

The principal taxes are shown below:

Taxes on income

Income tax
Petroleum income tax

Taxes on transactions

Customs and excise duties
Sales tax
Service tax
Entertainment duty
Stamp duty
Windfall profit levy
Contract levy

Taxes on capital gains

There is no capital gains tax except for real property gains tax (RPGT) which is a tax on gains arising from the disposal of real property or shares in real property companies (RPC).

Income tax

Scope of tax

Income tax is imposed on income accruing in or derived from Malaysia with the general exception of resident companies carrying on a business of air / sea transport, banking or insurance, which are subject to income tax on a world income scope. (Specific exemptions are available for Malaysian banks, insurance companies and takaful companies subject to specified conditions).

Classes of taxpayers

The principal classes of domestic and foreign taxpayers covered by the income tax legislation are companies, individuals, trade associations, co-operative societies, trusts, and estates. Generally, partnerships are not taxable entities. They are treated as conduits in which the partners and not the partnership, are taxed on the partnership income. However, a Limited Liability Partnership, is given the same tax treatment as companies.

Taxable income and gains

The sources of income subject to tax include those listed below:

- Gains or profits from any trade, business, profession, or vocation.
- Gains or profits from an employment, including allowances and benefits-in-kind.
- Dividends, interest and discounts.
- Rents, royalties and premiums.
- Pensions, annuities and other periodic payments.
- Any gains or profits not falling within the gains listed above.

Corporate tax system

Residence of companies

A company is tax resident in Malaysia for the basis year for a year of assessment if at any time during the basis year, the management and control of its affairs are exercised in Malaysia. Generally, a company would be regarded as resident in Malaysia if at any time during the basis period for a year of assessment, at least one meeting of the Board of Directors is held in Malaysia concerning the management and control of the company.

Year of assessment (YA) and basis period

The YA is the year coinciding with the calendar year. For example, the YA 2019 is the year ending 31 December 2019. The basis period for a business source is normally the financial year (FY) ending in that particular YA. For example the basis period for YA 2019 for a business which closes its accounts on 30 June 2019, is the FY ending 30 June 2019. All non-business sources of income of a company are also assessed on the basis of the FY.

Taxation of shareholders

Malaysia is on a single-tier system. Under this system, tax on a company's profits is a final tax. Dividends are exempt in the hands of shareholders, and companies are not required to deduct tax at source from dividends distributed to shareholders.

Foreign corporations – liability to tax

Foreign corporations (similar to Malaysian corporations) are taxed on income accruing in or derived from Malaysia. A broad basis for determining whether or not business profits are derived from Malaysia is to determine whether the foreign corporation is “trading within” Malaysia (taxable) or “trading with” Malaysia (non-taxable).

If a double taxation agreement with the home country of the foreign corporation is in force, the taxation of business profits derived by the foreign corporation is limited to the profits that are attributable to its permanent establishment situated in Malaysia.

With respect to income such as royalties, interest or service fees that is not attributable to a business carried on in Malaysia, the tax liability of the non-resident will be settled by way of withholding tax deducted by the paying entity. For example, a withholding tax rate of 10% is imposed on amounts received by a non-resident person for provision of any advice, assistance or services rendered in Malaysia (not limited to services of technical or management in nature), or the provision of services relating to the installation or operation of any apparatus or plant. For more details, please refer to the section on withholding tax.

For non-resident contractors that perform services in Malaysia for an extended duration of time, a withholding tax of 13% may apply.

Rates of tax

Resident companies are taxed at the rate of 24%. However, a resident company with paid-up capital of RM2.5 million or less is taxed at the following rates (provided that specified conditions are met with):

Chargeable income	RM	Rate (%) (YA 2019)
On the first	500,000	17
In excess of	500,000	24

Non-resident companies are taxed at the rate of 24% on their business income.

Certain income received by a non-resident company that is not attributable to a business carried on by that non-resident in Malaysia is subject to tax at the following rates (unless the relevant double taxation agreement (DTA) provides for some other rate):

	Rate (%)
Royalty	10
Rental of moveable property	10
Technical and non-technical or managerial service fee ¹	10
Interest	15
Dividends	Exempt
Income other than the above	10

¹ Only services rendered in Malaysia are liable to tax.

Withholding tax (WHT)

Payments of the above types of income to non-residents (except for dividends) are subject to WHT which is due and payable to the Inland Revenue Board (IRB) within one month after paying or crediting such payments. The rates of WHT are as shown above, except where the DTA between Malaysia and the country in which the recipient is resident, provides for a lower rate, in which case the DTA rate would be the WHT rate.

There is no WHT on dividends paid by Malaysian companies.

Gross income and profits from business

Gross income subject to income tax is generally based on the audited financial statements of the company. Business profits are computed on the basis of the audited accounts or non-audited accounts as the case may be, with adjustments made for non-taxable and non-tax deductible items.

Non-taxable income

Capital receipts are non-taxable. Certain types of income may also be specifically exempted by statute. “Single-tier” dividends as well as dividends paid out of tax exempt income received by a corporation are exempt from tax in the hands of shareholders.

Deductible expenses

Deductions are allowed for all outgoings and expenses incurred wholly and exclusively in producing gross income, unless specifically disallowed. Non-allowable expenses include domestic or private expenses, income tax or similar taxes, pre-incorporation, preliminary or start up expenses, capital withdrawn, or capital expenditure on improvements.

Interest expenses

It is proposed that the Earning Stripping Rules (ESR) is to be implemented in replacement of the Thin Capitalisation Rules with effect from 1 January 2019. Under the ESR, the interest deduction will be limited to a ratio as determined by the tax authorities, possibly ranging from 10% to 30% of the company’s profit before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation. Further guidance on the ESR will be issued soon.

Capital allowances

The depreciation charged on industrial buildings, plant and machinery, furniture, office equipment and motor vehicles, in the books in arriving at the commercial profit is not deductible for tax purposes. The law, however, provides for corresponding deductions for certain fixed assets used for the purposes of the business in the form of “capital allowances” (CA). Initial allowance is granted in the year the expenditure is incurred and the asset is in use for the purpose of the business. Annual allowance at the prescribed rates calculated on cost is given for every year during which the asset is in use at the end of the basis year for the purposes of the business.

The broad categories of qualifying expenditure together with the prescribed rates are set out below:

Qualifying asset	Initial allowance (%)	Annual allowance (%)
Industrial building, whether constructed or purchased	10	3
Heavy machinery	20	20
General plant and machinery	20	14
Furniture and fixtures	20	10
Office equipment	20	10
Motor vehicles*	20	20
Small value assets of less than RM1,300 each (subject to a maximum total cost of RM13,000)	-	100

*There is a limit on the qualifying expenditure on motor vehicles not licensed for commercial transportation of goods or passengers (restricted to RM50,000). However, for new vehicles, where the “on-the-road price” of the vehicle does not exceed RM150,000, the maximum qualifying expenditure is restricted to RM100,000.

Accelerated CA is available for certain types of industrial buildings, such as buildings used as a school or an educational institution and plant and machinery, such as computers, information technology equipment, environmental protection equipment and waste recycling equipment.

Plantations and forests

Expenditure on new planting (as distinct from expenditure on replanting, which is deductible) and on the construction of roads in a plantation, qualifies for an agriculture allowance of 50% of the cost for two years. Expenditure on the construction of roads in a forest, or of buildings that are likely to be of little or no value when the plantation ceases to be worked, or when timber ceases to be extracted, qualifies for an agriculture allowance of 10% of the cost for ten years. The cost of construction of buildings used for staff welfare or as living accommodation, qualifies for an agriculture allowance of 20% of the cost for five years.

Deduction of capital allowances (CA)

CA on assets used in one business cannot be deducted against income from another business, or against income from other non-business sources. When there is insufficient adjusted income to absorb the full amount of allowances available, the unutilised amount is carried forward for deduction against future business income from the same source.

Companies are not allowed to deduct unutilised CA brought forward from a prior year against income of a particular YA if the shareholders of the company at the beginning of the basis period for that YA are not substantially the same as the shareholders of the company at the end of the basis period for the (prior) YA in which the loss was initially ascertained. However, the Ministry of Finance has issued guidelines which state that the above rule restricting carry-forward CA based on the shareholder continuity test would only apply to dormant companies.

Losses

Business losses can be set off against income from all sources in the current year. Companies are not allowed to deduct a loss brought forward from a prior year against income of a particular YA if the shareholders of the company at the beginning of the basis period for that YA are not substantially the same as the shareholders. However, the Ministry of Finance has issued guidelines which state that the above rule restricting carry-forward losses based on the shareholder continuity test would only apply to dormant companies.

With effect from YA 2019, unutilised business losses in a YA can only be carried forward for a maximum period of 7 consecutive YAs to be utilised against income from any business source. Unutilised business losses brought forward from YA 2018 can be utilised for another 7 YAs and the unutilised balance will be disregarded in YA 2026.

Group relief

Group relief is available to all locally incorporated, resident companies that fulfill certain conditions. Companies that qualify are allowed to surrender a maximum of 70% of its adjusted loss for a YA to one or more related companies. With effect from YA 2019, the period in which a company may surrender its adjusted loss is limited to the first 3 consecutive YAs after having completed its first 12-month basis period from commencement of its operations. Companies opting for group relief must make an irrevocable election to surrender or claim the tax loss in the return to be filed with the IRB for that YA.

Companies currently enjoying certain incentives such as pioneer status, investment tax allowance, reinvestment allowance etc. are not eligible for group relief. With effect from YA 2019, group relief is also not available for companies where its pioneer status or investment tax allowance incentive has expired, and there are still unutilised pioneer losses or unutilised investment tax allowance available.

Capital gains and other taxes

Other than RPGT, no tax is imposed on capital gains. For more details on RPGT and other taxes, please refer to Chapter 7.

Tax administration

Submission of returns and assessments

Under the Self Assessment System (SAS), companies are required to submit a return of income within 7 months after the closing of accounts. Particulars required to be specified in the return include the amount of chargeable income and tax payable by the company. Upon submission of the return, an assessment is deemed to have been made on the company. The return is deemed to be a notice of assessment, which is deemed to be served on the company on the date that it is submitted.

Tax collection

Companies are required to furnish estimates of their tax payable for a YA not later than 30 days before the beginning of the basis period. However, a newly established company with paid-up capital of RM 2.5 million and less that meets certain specified conditions, is exempted from this requirement for 2 years, beginning from the YA in which the company commences operation. A revised estimate can be submitted in the 6th and / or 9th month of the basis period for a YA.

Companies are then required to pay tax by monthly installments (based on the estimates submitted) commencing from the second month of the company's basis period (financial year).

Tax payable by a company under an assessment upon submission of a return is due and payable by the “due date”. The “due date” is defined as the last day on expiry of 7 months from the date on which the accounts are closed.

Public rulings and advance rulings

To facilitate compliance with the SAS, the Director General of Inland Revenue (DGIR) is empowered by law to issue public rulings. Public rulings set out the interpretation of the DGIR in respect of a particular tax law, and the policy and procedures that are to be applied. Public rulings are binding on the DGIR but a taxpayer who has applied the treatment as set out in a particular public ruling may still appeal against an assessment which is based on the public ruling. All public rulings may be downloaded from the IRB's website at www.hasil.gov.my.

A taxpayer may request for an advance ruling from the DGIR, who may make an advance ruling on how any provision of the law applies to an arrangement described in the application. An advance ruling is only applicable to the person making the application and is not subject to review when issued. However, the taxpayer retains his right of appeal against any assessment issued in accordance with the tax treatment set out in the ruling. A charge will be imposed for the issuance of an advance ruling.

Tax audit process

The general tax audit framework outlines the rights and responsibilities of audit officers, taxpayers, and tax agents in respect of a tax audit. A tax audit may cover a period of one to three YAs determined in accordance with the audit focus. The YAs to be covered in a tax audit may, however, be extended depending on the issues identified during an audit.

Statute of limitation

Additional assessments can be made within five (5) years after the expiration of the relevant YA. This time limit is not applicable where fraud, wilful default, or negligence has been committed.

Transfer pricing

Transfer pricing (TP) legislation

The basis for determining proper compensation is, almost universally, the arm's length principle which has also been accepted by the Inland Revenue Board (IRB).

The arm's length principle was incorporated into Section 140A of the Malaysian Income Tax Act 1967. It allows the DGIR to adjust any transfer prices between related parties in Malaysia which, in the view of the DGIR, do not meet the arm's length standard.

What constitutes "arm's length" is not defined in the Income Tax Act 1967. Consequently, the IRB has issued the TP Rules 2012 and the revised TP Guidelines 2012 to give guidance on the arm's length standard that is acceptable to the IRB. The TP Rules and Guidelines seek to provide guidance on the application of the law on controlled transactions, the acceptable methodologies as provided in the rules and administrative requirements including the types of records and documentation expected from taxpayers involved in TP arrangements.

Advance pricing arrangements (APA)

Companies are allowed to apply for APAs from the DGIR. The objective of establishing APAs is to provide an avenue for taxpayers to obtain certainty upfront that their related party transactions meet the arm's length standard. The IRB has issued the APA Rules 2012 and APA Guidelines 2012 to give guidance on the matter.

Statute of limitation for TP adjustments

The statute of limitation is seven (7) years from the expiration of a YA for raising an assessment or additional assessment for that YA in respect of TP adjustments for a transaction entered into between associated persons not at arm's length.

Country-by-Country Reporting

The Malaysian Country-by-Country Rules require a Malaysian multinational corporation (MNC) group with total consolidated group revenue of RM3 billion and above in the FY preceding the reporting FY (i.e. FY commencing on or after 1 January 2017) to prepare and submit the Country-by-Country Report to the IRB no later than 12 months after the close of each FY.

Malaysian entities of foreign MNC groups will generally not be required to prepare and file Country-by-Country Reports as the obligation to file will be with the ultimate holding company in the jurisdiction it is tax resident in. However a notification to the IRB may be required.

Business reorganisations

Incorporation

The transfer of a business by a sole proprietor or a partnership to a corporation will result in the profits of the business being subject to tax at the corporate tax rate of 24% as from the date of transfer, as opposed to being taxed at graduated rates for personal tax. Unutilised business losses and CA available to the Malaysian branch of a foreign company are non-transferable upon local incorporation.

Merger or amalgamation

The merging of two corporations by an exchange of shares normally has no tax consequences unless one of them is a real property company. In such cases, there may be RPGT implications arising from an exchange of shares as the transaction may be regarded as an acquisition and disposal of real property company shares.

If the two corporations being merged are under common control, transfer of any asset between them is regarded as a “controlled transfer” wherein the disposer / acquirer is deemed to have disposed of / acquired the assets at the tax written down value. (“Control” means management control or the holding of 50% or more of the shares by the disposer / acquirer or other controlling corporation).

In other cases of transfer, the transfer values of the fixed assets will constitute qualifying expenditure for the purpose of computing CA of the transferee corporation, and for the transferor corporation, the disposal value of assets disposed of, on which computation of balancing charge or allowances will be based.

Group relief (outlined earlier) is available to all locally incorporated tax resident companies that fulfil certain conditions.

There may also be stamp duty implications when assets are transferred. Relief from stamp duty may be available where assets are transferred under a scheme of reconstruction or amalgamation of companies and certain prescribed conditions are satisfied. Relief is also available under certain circumstances on the transfer of assets between associated companies where either company owns 90% or more of the other company or where a third company owns 90% or more of both. (See Chapter 7).

Tax incentives

In cognisance of the importance of the role of private sector investment in ensuring sustainable growth in the medium and long term, the government has instituted measures to enhance investment activity in Malaysia. One of the measures is through tax incentives. Tax incentives are generally applicable to investors who establish tax resident companies in Malaysia. The policy is to encourage foreign companies wishing to engage in continuing operations in Malaysia to incorporate local subsidiaries. Tax incentives to promote investments in Malaysia are generally in the form of tax exemptions on profit, capital based incentives in the form of allowances or deductions based on the quantum of capital expenditure incurred.

Malaysia has made legislative changes where required, to meet the Forum on Harmful Tax Practice's requirements.

Examples of tax incentives available are as follows:

Pioneer status (PS) and investment tax allowance (ITA)

PS incentive is an exemption from income tax on 70% of statutory income (adjusted income after deducting capital allowances) for a period of five years. ITA is an allowance of 60% of qualifying capital expenditure (QCE) incurred on a building or plant and machinery for a period of five years. ITA is an alternative incentive to PS.

Companies in the manufacturing, agricultural, hotel and tourism sectors or any other industrial or commercial sector that participates in a promoted activity of producing a promoted product may be eligible for the PS or ITA incentive where qualifying conditions are met.

There are also enhanced PS and ITA incentives available for companies undertaking projects in promoted products or activities where the government intends to further expedite growth. Enhanced PS usually takes the form of a full tax exemption whilst ITA is given on 100% of QCE.

Currently, eligible projects range from projects of national and strategic importance, high technology, research & development, healthcare, education, to those undertaking green technology activities such as energy conservation and generation of energy using renewable resources.

Any unutilised PS losses can be carried forward for a maximum period of 7 consecutive YAs after the end of the pioneer period (with effect from YA 2019). The same treatment applies to unutilised PS losses accumulated as at YA 2018 where the incentive period has already expired. Any unutilised amount after the end of the 7th YA will be disregarded,

Islamic financial services sector

There are also an array of incentives available in furtherance of the government's objective of developing Malaysia into a leading international Islamic Financial Centre. These range from tax deduction given for issuance costs of various Islamic securities to tax exemptions granted for fees earned from management of funds in accordance to syariah principles.

Principal hub

A principal hub is a locally incorporated company which uses Malaysia as a base for conducting its regional and global businesses and operations through management, control and support of key functions. These include management of risks, decision making and strategic business activities such as trading, finance, management and human resource.

Income tax at tiered rates (0%, 5%, or 10%) is given for a period of up to ten years, subject to conditions being met (for applications from 1 May 2015 to 31 December 2020). Other available non-fiscal incentives available include:

- No equity/ownership conditions.
- Foreign exchange administration flexibilities and expatriate positions.
- Customs duty exemption for raw materials, components, or finished products brought into free zones, licensed and bonded warehouses for production or repackaging cargo consolidation, and integration before distribution to its final customers for goods-based companies.

“Pre-packaged” incentives

As part of the Government’s efforts to attract high quality investments, specially “pre-packaged” incentives are available to companies resident in Malaysia carrying on an “approved business”. An “approved business” is defined to mean any business approved by the Minister of Finance (“the Minister”) under the special incentive scheme. Under this scheme, a company is entitled to claim either:

- Tax exemption of 70% (or any other rate as prescribed by the Minister) of the company’s statutory income; or
- Tax exemption of 70% (or any other rate as prescribed by the Minister) of statutory income granted based on a percentage (as determined by the Minister) of QCE incurred.

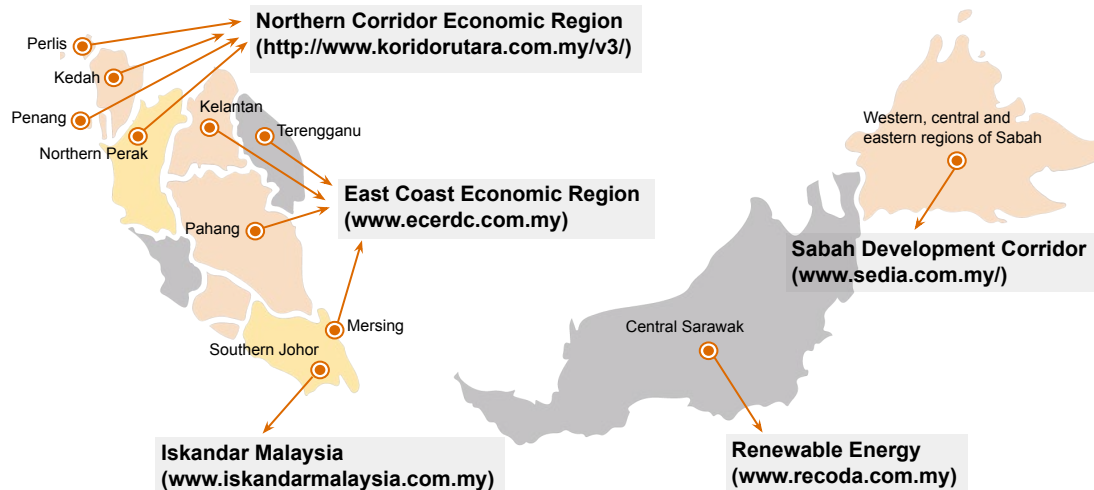

Multimedia Super Corridor

Incentives are also given to MSC (Multimedia Super Corridor) status companies. MSC status is awarded to both local and foreign companies that develop or use multimedia technologies to produce or enhance their products and services and for process development. MSC status companies are situated in special zoned areas in Malaysia.

Development Regions

The following development regions were launched as part of the Malaysian government’s plan for national economic advancement through regional development and growth acceleration in various strategic locations by promotion of domestic and foreign investments:

Basic to the strategy for promotion of investments in these development regions is the provision of all necessary infrastructure (financial and non-financial) for the creation of a business-friendly environment, including tax and other financial incentives. Apart from existing incentives which are available for promoted activities and products provided under the Promotion of Investments Act 1986 (PS, ITA, etc.) and the Income Tax Act 1967, special incentives which are customised for the purpose of each development region have been (or will be) developed. To date, special legislation has been enacted for Iskandar Malaysia, the East Coast Economic Region and the Sabah Development Corridor.

Reinvestment Allowance (RA)

RA is available to manufacturing companies that reinvest their capital to embark on a project for either expansion of existing production capacity, modernisation or automation of the production facilities, or diversification into related products. The rate of RA is 60% of QCE (i.e. factory, plant and machinery) and is granted in addition to CA. The RA is used to reduce up to 70% of statutory income of the manufacturing company from its business source in respect of the qualifying project.

The incentive period for RA is 15 years from the first year of claim by a company. In respect of unutilised RA available at the end of the RA period, the 7 consecutive YAs carry-forward restriction apply, similar to the PS incentive.

Personal Taxation

Scope of taxable income

Income tax is imposed on income accruing in or derived from Malaysia by any person (See Chapter 5). Gains or profits from an employment, profession or vocation are taxable if derived from Malaysia. Employment income is regarded as derived from Malaysia if the employment is exercised in Malaysia and is subject to Malaysian tax, even if the income is paid outside of Malaysia. Capital gains are not taxable except for those derived from disposal of real property or shares in a real property company (See Chapter 7).

Basis of assessment

Income is assessed to tax on a current year basis. All income of individuals are assessed on a calendar year basis. The year of assessment (YA) is the year coinciding with the calendar year, for example, the YA 2019 is the year ended 31 December 2019.

Residence status of individuals

The tax residence status of an individual is determined based on the number of days he is present in Malaysia. The individual would be regarded as a tax resident, if he meets any of the following conditions, i.e. if he is:

- in Malaysia for a least 182 days in a calendar year;
- in Malaysia for a period of less than 182 days during the year (shorter period) but that period is linked to a period of physical presence of 182 or more “consecutive” days in the following or preceding year (longer period). In ascertaining “consecutive” days, under certain situations, an individual’s temporary absence from Malaysia may be disregarded when determining tax residence status.
- in Malaysia for 90 days or more during the year and, in any 3 of the 4 immediately preceding years, he was in Malaysia for at least 90 days or was resident in Malaysia;
- resident for the year immediately following that year and for each of the 3 immediately preceding years.

Sales Tax

Sales tax is implemented with effect from 1 September 2018 to replace Goods and Services Tax (GST). Sales tax is a single stage tax imposed on taxable goods manufactured in Malaysia by a registered manufacturer or imported into Malaysia by any person. All goods are taxable goods unless they are specifically exempted by order of the Minister of Finance.

Sales tax is a consumption tax, and under the system the onus is on the registered manufacturer to calculate the tax, levy it and collect it from its customers. In the case of imported goods, sales tax is collected from the importer at the time the goods are cleared from customs control.

Manufacture

Manufacture, in relation to goods other than petroleum, means the conversion by manual or mechanical means of organic or inorganic materials into a new product by changing the size, shape, composition, nature or quality of such materials and includes the assembly or parts into pieces of machinery or other products but does not include the installation of machinery or equipment for the purpose of construction. In relation to petroleum, it means any process of separation, purification, refining conversion and blending.

Registration and exemption from registration

A manufacturer is liable to be registered if the total sales value of his taxable goods for a 12-month period exceeds or is expected to exceed RM500,000. Certain manufacturing activities are exempted from the registration requirement. They include the developing and printing of photographs and production of film slides, the manufacture of ready mixed concrete, the repair of second-hand or used goods and the installation of air conditioners in motor vehicles.

Any manufacturer who is not liable to be registered for sales tax or exempted from registration may nonetheless apply to the Director General (DG) of Customs for voluntary registration as a registered manufacturer. The DG of Customs may approve the registration to be effective from a date he determines and subject to conditions he deems fit.

Rates of tax

The default rate of sales tax is 10%. There is a reduced rate of 5% for certain goods which are listed in the First Schedule of the Sales Tax (Rates of Tax) Order 2018. There are also specific rates (e.g. RM0.30 per litre, RM0.01 per kg, etc) for coal tar and petroleum products.

Goods exempted

All goods exported from Malaysia are exempted from sales tax. There are also goods which are specifically exempted by order from the Minister of Finance. The full list of goods specifically exempted is available in the Schedule A of the Sales Tax (Goods Exempted from Tax) Order 2018.

Tax-free raw material

In order to maintain the single-stage concept, there are facilities available to allow for inputs (raw materials and components) to be imported or acquired free of sales tax by a registered manufacturer for use in the manufacturing process.

Drawback

A person can claim drawback on the sales tax paid in respect of imported or locally acquired goods, which are subsequently exported.

Sales tax deduction

With effect from 1 January 2019, registered manufacturers can claim sales tax deduction on taxable raw materials, components or packing materials purchased from local traders and used solely in the manufacturing of their taxable goods. The rate of sales tax deduction is:

- 2% of the total value of taxable goods purchased if the taxable goods were charged with sales tax of 5%
- 4% of the total value of taxable goods purchased if the taxable goods were charged with sales tax of 10%

Payment of sales tax and taxable period

Sales tax is due at the time the taxable goods are sold, disposed of otherwise than by sale, or first used otherwise than as materials in the manufacture of taxable goods, by the taxable person. However, in relation to the classes of petroleum that are subject to sales tax, special provisions apply regarding the time when sales tax is due and payable.

Any sales tax that falls due during a taxable period, is payable to the Royal Malaysian Customs Department (RMCD) latest by the last day of the month following the end of the taxable period

A taxable period is a period of 2 calendar months, however, a taxable person can apply to the DG of Customs to vary the taxable period. If the application to vary the taxable period is approved, the sales tax due is payable to RMCD latest by 30 days from the end of the varied taxable period.

Refund of sales tax on bad debts

A registered manufacturer or a person who has ceased to be a registered manufacturer can apply for a refund of sales tax in relation to bad debts. The conditions for the refund application are that:

- the whole or part of the sales tax paid has been written off as a bad debt; and
- all reasonable efforts have been made by the applicant to recover the sales tax.

Service Tax

Service tax is implemented with effect from 1 September 2018 to replace Goods and Services Tax (GST). Service tax is a consumption tax levied and charged on any taxable services provided in Malaysia by a registered person in carrying on his business. Service tax is also charged on imported taxable services acquired by any person who carries on a business in Malaysia.

Rates of tax

The rate of service tax is 6% ad valorem for all taxable services except for the provision of charge or credit card services. Service tax for the provision of charge or credit card services is RM25 per year on each principal card or supplementary card.

Registration of taxable person and taxable services

A taxable person is a person who is registered or liable to be registered for service tax. A person is liable to be registered if the total value of his taxable services for a 12-month period exceeds or is expected to exceed the prescribed registration threshold. The term “person” includes an individual, a firm, a society, an association, a company and every other juridical person.

Other Taxes

Import duties

Imports of goods are generally subject to import duties.

Rates of tax

Import duties are generally levied on an ad valorem basis, but they may also be imposed on a specific basis. The ad valorem rates range from 2% to 60%. Raw materials, machinery, essential foodstuffs, and pharmaceutical products are generally non-dutiable or subject to duties at lower rates.

Tariff rate quota

With effect from 1 April 2008, Malaysia implemented tariff rate quota (TRQ) on selected agricultural products, such as chicken, milk and cream, hen eggs, cabbages. Under TRQ, the tariff charged depends on the volume of imports. Imports within quota (volume) attract duties at a lower tariff rate while a higher tariff rate applies on goods in excess of the quota volume “out-quota tariff rate”. The quota applicable is determined by the relevant agency, e.g. Department of Veterinary Services.

Value of goods

The value of goods for the purpose of computing import duties is determined largely in accordance with the World Trade Organisation (WTO) principles of customs valuation.

Exemptions

Manufacturers may apply to the relevant authorities for exemption from import duties for the following:

- raw materials and components used directly for the manufacture of goods for export and domestic markets.
- dutiable machinery and equipment which are used directly in the manufacturing process.

Prohibition of imports

Import restrictions are seldom imposed except on a limited range of products for protection of local industries or for reasons of security and public safety. An import licence has to be obtained for the importation of prohibited goods.

Export duties

Export duties are generally imposed on Malaysia’s main commodities such as crude petroleum and palm oil for revenue purpose.

Excise duties

Excise duties are imposed on a selected range of goods manufactured in Malaysia or imported into Malaysia. Goods which are subject to excise duty include beer/stout, cider and perry, rice wine, mead, undenatured ethyl alcohol, brandy, whisky, rum and other spirits obtained by distilling fermented sugar-cane products, gin and geneva, cigarettes containing tobacco, motor vehicles, motorcycles, playing cards and mahjong tiles. No excise duty is payable on dutiable goods that are exported.

The excise duties on certain sugar sweetened beverages are proposed to come into effect on 1 July 2019.

Licensing

Unless exempted from licensing, a manufacturer of tobacco, intoxicating liquor or goods subject to excise duties must have a licence to manufacture such goods.

A warehouse licence is required for storage of goods subject to excise duty. However, a licence to manufacture tobacco, intoxicating liquor or goods subject to excise duty also permits the holder to store such goods.

Rates of duties

The rates of excise duties vary from a composite rate of RM 1.10 and 15% for certain types of spirituous beverages, to as much as 105% for motorcars (depending on engine capacity).

Payment of duty

As a general rule, duty is payable at the time the goods leave the place of manufacture. However, for motor vehicles, duty is payable at the time the vehicles are registered with the Road Transport Department.

Stamp duty

Stamp duty is chargeable on instruments and not on transactions.

Stamp duty rates

Stamp duty rates vary according to the value of its underlying transaction which is generally taken to be the higher of actual consideration or market value.
